Internship and Work Placement Guide 2026

Academic year 2026 — Detailed internship requirements and reporting guidance

1. Purpose of the Internship Guide

This guide provides detailed information about internship planning, approval, workplace expectations, assessment, reporting, and completion at Northbridge University.

Programme-specific requirements may apply. Students should confirm the requirements for their own programme before beginning an internship.

2. Internship Report Structure

Where an internship report is required, students should organize the report using the following sections:

- Executive Summary
- Organization Profile
- Internship Objectives
- Description of Responsibilities
- Work Completed
- Skills and Knowledge Applied
- Challenges and Solutions
- Reflection and Learning Outcomes
- Conclusion
- Supporting Evidence

3. Executive Summary

The executive summary should briefly describe the internship placement, its main objectives, the student's role, major activities, and key learning outcomes.

4. Organization Profile

The organization profile should introduce the host organization and provide relevant background information about its activities, industry, structure, or services.

5. Internship Objectives

Students should explain the objectives of the internship and describe how the placement was expected to support their academic or professional development.

6. Description of Responsibilities

Students should describe their main responsibilities and explain the types of work they were expected to perform during the internship.

7. Work Completed

The report should summarize significant tasks, projects, activities, or deliverables completed during the placement.

Students should focus on meaningful work rather than listing every routine activity.

8. Skills and Knowledge Applied

Students should identify academic knowledge, technical skills, communication skills, problem-solving abilities, or other competencies that they applied during the internship.

9. Challenges and Solutions

Students should discuss significant challenges encountered during the internship and explain the approaches used to address them.

The discussion should focus on what the student learned from dealing with the challenges.

10. Reflection and Learning Outcomes

Students should reflect on how the internship contributed to their academic, professional, and personal development.

The reflection may discuss new skills, improved understanding, workplace experience, and areas for future development.

11. Supporting Evidence

Where permitted and appropriate, students may include supporting evidence such as approved screenshots, diagrams, work samples, activity records, or other documentation.

Students must not include confidential company information or restricted material without appropriate authorization.

12. Report Formatting

Students should follow the report formatting and submission requirements provided by their programme or internship coordinator.

Required formatting may include page structure, headings, referencing requirements, file format, and submission method.

13. Internship Presentation

Some programmes may require students to give a presentation about their internship.

A presentation may cover the organization, internship objectives, responsibilities, completed work, skills developed, challenges, and learning outcomes.

14. Confidentiality

Students must respect workplace confidentiality requirements when preparing reports and presentations.

Students should obtain appropriate permission before including non-public organizational information, data, images, or work products.

15. Supervisor Evaluation

Where required, the workplace supervisor may complete an evaluation of the student's performance.

The evaluation may consider attendance, professionalism, communication, responsibility, work quality, teamwork, and achievement of internship objectives.

16. Final Submission Checklist

Before submitting the internship requirements, students should confirm that:

- The internship was approved by the university.
- Required internship activities have been completed.
- Required supervisor forms have been completed.
- The internship report follows the required structure.
- Supporting evidence is appropriate and does not violate confidentiality.
- Required presentations or assessments have been completed.
- All documents have been submitted through the approved method.
- The submission has been completed before the applicable deadline.

17. Problems During an Internship

Students who experience significant problems during an internship should contact their internship coordinator or Academic Support as early as possible.

Students should seek guidance before making major changes to an approved placement.

18. Completion

An internship is considered complete when the student has fulfilled the applicable placement requirements and submitted all required academic documentation and assessments.
